REGINALD DOHERTY DEAD IN LONDON.

Elder Brother of the Noted Lawn Tennis Team.

Winner of the All-Comers' Match in this City in 1902.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Reginald F. Doherty, elder of the brothers of the noted English lawn tennis team, died today. He had been in ill health for some time.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—Lawn tennis enthusiasts in New England heard with regret today of the death of Reginald F. Doherty, whose American career on the grass courts, with his brother, Hugh L. Doherty, formed a brilliant page in the history of the game on this side of the Atlantic.

REGINALD F. DOHERTY.

R. F. Doherty made his first appearance on American courts in the summer of 1902, when his brother and Dr. Pim, forming the British team in an unsuccessful attempt to lift the Davis international cup. The matches were played at the Crescent Athletic Club at Brooklyn, and while the Doherty brothers won the doubles event, defeating Ward and Davis in four sets, they lost in the singles contest and the cup stayed in America.

Two weeks later the Doherty brothers entered the national championship at Newport and R. F. Doherty went through to the challenge match, defeating the former champion, M. D. Whitman, in the finals of the all-comers' tournament in a four-set match. The next day R. F. Doherty met the title holder, William A. Larned, and was defeated in a four-set contest. The brothers, however, captured the American championship in doubles by defeating Ward and Davis in a hard match.

The Doherty brothers returned the following year and made a clean sweep of the American tennis courts. They carried the Davis cup to foreign lands, where it still remains, by defeating Larned, Robert D. Wrenn and his brother, George L. Wrenn, at Longwood. Two weeks later the Dohertys appeared at Newport, where they successfully defended their doubles championship and won their way through to the challenge match in the singles tournament. Then R. F. Doherty gracefully waived a chance to meet Larned for the title and allowed his brother the honor of being the only foreigner to win the American singles lawn tennis championship.

By reason of great height and length of arm, R. F. Doherty was a wonderful "getter," while his general game was marked by its graceful ease and calculating coolness. His steadiness, coupled with his brother's brilliancy, made a combination which withstood the attacks of the best players in the world for many years.

REVOLT BREAKS OUT IN HONDURAS.

Ceiba Believed to be Objective Point of the Revolutionists.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—Advices received here last night say that a revolution has broken out in Honduras and fighting is going on along the Honduran-Nicaraguan border, 20 miles below Cape Gracias, Nicaragua. The forces are being led, according to wireless reports, by General Lee Christmas, who was to have met 1,600 men, many of them Americans, on the Nicaraguan border, with 40 days' provisions. It is known that the Davila government moved $55,000 in silver from Puerto Cortez to Ceiba and the latter city is believed to be the objective point of the advancing revolutionists.

The reports indicate that the greater part of the fighting is about 20 miles from Cape Gracias, Nicaragua, but on the Honduran side. It is understood the plan of attack is for Christmas to force his way inland, while General Bonilla attacks Ceiba from the Puerto Cortez side, leaving the Hornet, which is said to be now heavily armed, at Puerto Cortez, while that port is held under her guns

NO WIRE COMMUNICATION.

Reports That Casa Grandes Had Fallen Not Yet Verified.

EL PASO, Texas, Dec. 29.—Superintendent Rutledge of the Mexico Northwestern Railroad returned to Juarez late last night, from the work of repairing the bridges destroyed by insurrectors last week, below Guzman. Four of the bridges have been re-built without molestation. It was stated that bands of insurrectos were seen on adjacent hilltops watching the work. A construction gang, working from Pearson, north, is reported to have been turned back and the telegraph wires cut. It became known here late last night that Jefe Politico Martin of Casa Grandes, Sonora, sent a message to Governor Terrazas stating that Guerro, commander of the northern insurrectors, had demanded the surrender of the town, and urging that reinforcements be sent at the earliest possible moment. Reports that the town had fallen last night cannot be verified on account of the wires being cut.

FOR SEPARATE ORGANIZATIONS.

Minor Leagues Anxious to Withdraw from National Association.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—The subject of the rumored strife between the Eastern Base Ball League and the American Association and organized base ball was under discussion around American League headquarters in this city yesterday. It is said representatives of these two class A. minor league circuits will make application before the national commission at Cincinnati next week, to be withdrawn from the National Association for the purpose of holding a separate organization of their own, that will work in harmony with the majors and minors.

"President Thomas Chivington of the American Association has already been to see me regarding the plans," said President Johnson of the American League, "and President Barrow of the Eastern League was anxious to have a talk with me during the base ball meetings in New York, but I did not have time to confer with him."

In the event the matter is not taken up by the commission next week, it is said that the American Association magnates will thoroughly discuss the topic during their annual session here January 12.

INTERNATIONAL COMMISSION.

To Supervise Traffic Rates Between Canada and the States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—An agreement for the establishment of an international railway commission, to supervise the rates on traffic between the United States and Canada, was reached today by negotiators representing the two countries. The agreement will be reported, with a recommendation for action, by Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to the State Department, and by J. P. Mabie, chief of the railway commission of the Dominion, to the foreign office at Ottawa. No details of the report yet are available, beyond the fact that it recommends the establishment of the international commission, upon which shall be conferred certain definite regulatory powers.

For a considerable period it has been realized that the increasing traffic, both passenger and freight, between the United States and Canada, was likely to make control over rates difficult, unless some international action were taken. The acquisition by American railroads of Canadian terminals and by Canadian railroads of American terminals and lines presents increasing difficulties.

In the existing circumstances it is not possible to compel either railways or express companies to establish joint through routes and rates to and from points in the two countries. In other words, neither an American nor a Canadian carrier may be required to furnish to a shipper a through bill of lading from any point in one country to any point in the other. The reasonableness of the international rates, which are ordinarily a combination of the rates local to each country, can be determined only by a clerky, can be determined instituted before curious proceeding the commissions of both countries.

No power at present exists that can require carriers engaged in international transportation to establish what may be regarded officially as reasonable through joint rates and to apportion those rates among the participating carriers in event they cannot reach an agreement among themselves. Out of this situation grew the idea of the creation of an international commission, which should have supervisory control over the railways and other common carriers doing an international transportation business.

FIRST AEROPLANE RACE.

Radley, an Englishman, Beats American at Los Angeles.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Dec. 28.—England and France, in a speed contention, defeated the United States today in the first aeroplane Derby ever run. James Radley, the British speed champion, in a French Blerlot monoplane, beat Eugene Ely, driving a Curtiss racer, and Phil Parmalee, in a "baby" Wright, in an 8¾-mile race. He established a new record for the Los Angeles field, his time for the 8¾ miles being 9:13 1-5, or an average of about 57 miles an hour. His fastest lap was made at the rate of almost a mile a minute. Ely's time was 10:02 4-5, or about 52 miles an hour, while Parmalee covered the course in 10:35, or about 49 miles an hour.

"Mere exhibition flying is about to pass into the realm of commonplace," said Glen H. Curtiss this evening. "The novelty has worn off, and henceforth racing will be the thing. The day is at hand when aviation meets will consist solely of contests."

PARR TO RECEIVE $100,000.

His Evidence Against the Sugar Trust Netted $3,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Richard Parr, the customs detective who discovered the steel springs in the scales of the American Sugar Refining Company's Williamsburg dock in New York and furnished most of the evidence through which more than $3,000,000 has been returned to the federal treasury, will receive his reward as a New Year's greeting.

Parr's moiety was $100,000 for his work. He was paid $30,000 some time ago, but the treasury had no more funds to complete payment. The urgent deficiency bill passed by Congress carried an item of $90,000, and of that $60,000 will go to Parr. Secretary MacVeagh will sign a warrant this week transferring the money to Collector Loeb in New York, who will be able to pay Parr before New Year's day.

MISSING CIVIL WAR GUN FOUND.

EXETER, Mo., Dec. 28.—A much-sought-after old cannon, captured from Kansas troops by General Sterling Price's men in 1864, was found today in a deep hole in Flat Creek, near here. A party headed by F. F. Heisler, secretary of the Kansas Soldiers Memorial Association, found the gun. It will be placed in the room of the Kansas State Historical Society at Topeka.

LETTER CARRIERS LOSE.

Board Upholds Railroads in Refusal to Grant Reduced Fares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—By a decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission the National Association of Letter Carriers lost a notable case, which it had instituted against a large number of railroad lines. The defendant roads filed tariffs with the commission providing for special reduced round-trip fares on the certificate plan in connection with the national convention of the association held at St. Paul, Minn., in 1909, such reduced fares being conditioned on the presentation of 1,000 or more certificates. Less than 1,000 certificates were available to be used and therefore the reduced fare for the return trip was denied.

The railroads had expressed their willingness to give the reduced rates provided they could do so without violating the provisions of their tariffs. The commission holds that the tariff provisions are binding and must control.

Many of those who went to St. Paul to attend the convention found themselves in a serious financial predicament because they could not secure the reduced rate to their homes. Subsequently the Letter Carriers' Association filed a complaint with the commission. The decision expresses sympathy for those who suffered in the situation, but does not see its way clear to accord relief.

MAXIM'S STATEMENTS UNTRUE.

Meyer Declares Criticisms on Smokeless Powder to be Unworthy of Consideration.

Statements relating to the kind of smokeless powder used by this country made by Sir Hiram Maxim, who wrote President Taft October 25 that gun explosions in the United States army and navy were due to the form of powder grains in use, were characterized as "unworthy of serious consideration" in a letter to the President from Secretary of the Navy Meyer, made public at the White House. Appended to Secretary Meyer's letter was a memorandum on the subject from Brigadier General William Crozier, chief of ordnance, U. S. A., to the Secretary of War refuting Sir Hiram Maxim's criticism as well as an article in Engineering, a London periodical, frequently referred to by Sir Hiram Maxim in his letter.

"It is considered," says Secretary Meyer, "unwarranted to carry out further experiments desired by Sir Hiram Maxim, and that his statements in relation to our smokeless powder are unworthy of serious consideration, except as to their misrepresentations, and to the evil effects of their wide publicity on those unacquainted with this subject." In regard to Sir Hiram Maxim's statement that he "has had great experience and knows what he is talking about," Secretary Meyer says Sir Hiram Maxim is "ignorant of the type of smokeless powder used by the United States government, and it is quite probable that he has had very little or no experience with it, however familiar he may be with nitroglycerine or cordite powders." The letter also declares that though Sir Hiram Maxim claims to be the inventor of modern smokeless powder, he is in no sense the inventor of the type of smokeless powder developed by the United States navy at the Naval Torpedo Station, Newport, R. I., and used in the naval service since 1839.

"The broad statement of Sir Hiram Maxim," continues Secretary Meyer, "that the gun accidents of the United States navy are due to multi-perforated powder grains is shown to be untrue from evidence not at all connected with the details of the grain. When the composition of the powder and the details of the grain are considered there is additional evidence to show that these elements are not at fault." In none of the gun accidents in the United States navy since smokeless powder was introduced, declares Secretary Meyer, has the evidence of the examine shown that the smokeless powder in use at the time of the explosion was at fault in any degree.

Brigadier General William Crozier's memorandum to the Secretary of War supports the contention of Secretary Meyer with regard to military experiments with smokeless powder. It is indicated that since the introduction of smokeless powder in the military service, but one large gun was burst and only two or three field pieces, accidents ascribed to other causes.

FINAL PAYMENT MADE.

Railway Owned by American Company Now Property of Bogota.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The final payment by the city of Bogota to the American owners of its city railway has been made and the road now is the property of the municipality. This terminates a source of constant trouble in Colombia between the American company, the government of Columbia, and the natives of Bogota. It was announced at the State Department today that $125,000 in gold arrived in New York from Bogota yesterday, representing the final instalment of a total of $500,000 from the municipality of Bogota to the American corporation.

The feeling of deep resentment on the part of the natives of Bogota towards the American company culminated in a summer in a series of riots and disturbances. In view of this situation the question was taken up by the Colombian government and the American legation at Bogota and early in October an agreement for the sale of the property was reached.

We hear the expression, "the medicine is worse than the disease." The expression is frequently used by people who are obliged to take Cod Liver Oil. In former years there was nothing for the patient to do but take Cod Liver Oil and look pleasant. The rapid advances made in modern pharmacy in recent years have brought about many changes in the manner of preparing medicines for the sick and in no instance is this more marked than in our Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites, which contains all the medicinal properties of the purest Cod Liver Oil with the disagreeable taste and smell of the oil eliminated and the tonic and reconstructive properties of the hypophosphites added. It is valuable as a preventative against colds as well as curative.

MRS. EDDY'S WILL ILLEGAL.

Lawyers Declare Bequest is Contrary to Statutes of Massachusetts.

The Mother Church May Suffer and Tenets of Christian Science be Legally Arraigned.

Announcement is made, declared to be from absolutely authoritative sources, that the will of Mary Baker Eddy, bequeathing to the church practically all her $3,000,000 fortune, will be attacked as illegal under the laws of Massachusetts. There is said also to be every promise of a separate proceeding directed against Christian Science itself as a movement against public policy. Lawyers declare that the founder of Christian Science has left as a legacy to the cult she created the gravest crisis in its history, and did it unknowingly when she made the Mother Church her residuary legatee.

No doubt regrets that the heirs of Mrs. Eddy—her son, George W. Glover, and her adopted son, Dr. E. J. Foster Eddy—have reached a final decision to fight for the possession of this fortune. It is equally certain that former United States Senator William E. Chandler of Washington and other distinguished counsel representing the heirs have determined upon a line of legal action which will raise unique issues and arouse international interest.

The lawyers for the Eddy heirs did not have far to look for the keynote of their proposed attack upon the Christian Science leader's will. They found it in the revised laws of Massachusetts for the year 1902, in section 9 of chapter 97. It reads: "The income of the gifts, grants, bequests and devises made to or for the use of any one church shall not exceed $2,000 a year, exclusive of the income of any parsonage land granted to or for the use of the ministry." That is all there is to it—a brief, plain, undoubted provision of law—that had been hidden away among the Massachusetts statutes for more than half a century, but which was re-enacted eight years ago. Probably not many persons knew of its existence. Obviously it was unknown to Mrs. Eddy and the advisers who aided in the drawing of her will, which was executed only one short year after the re-enactment of the statute.

The heirs see in this law a sure legal bar to the inheritance by the Christian Science Church of Mrs. Eddy's vast estate. They will take the position that the will is illegal and void; that in point of fact Mrs. Eddy made no disposition of her property, and that a condition is created identically the same as if Mrs. Eddy had died intestate.

Mr. Chandler and his associate lawyers have had to overcome one serious obstacle in preparing their plan of action. This was the agreement of settlement made last year between Mrs. Eddy and her sons, in which the heirs pledged themselves not to contest any will she might leave. But close students of the situation believe that the resourceful lawyers have a safe and sure way out of the difficulty. Mr. Chandler clearly plans to keep his clients within the strict letter of their agreement, so that no interest of theirs under the settlement shall be endangered. This he doubtless proposes to accomplish by moving in the matter through a bill in equity, which, while compelling the courts to pass upon the legality of Mrs. Eddy's will, cannot be legally construed as a contest of that will.

Prominent lawyers who have had an inkling of the campaign plans under consideration by counsel for the heirs predict a legal battle that will furnish the record of modern litigation with its most sensational chapter, if this statute in the laws of Massachusetts holds good, the will of Mrs. Eddy will become as so much waste paper; the millions of dollars in the residuary estate will slip from the fingers of the directors of the Mother Church; Mrs. Augusta Stetson, the ex-communicated, will not get her diamond crown, nor Calvin Fry, the mysterious footman-secretary, his comfortable legacy and free board and lodgings for life.

It is regarded as certain that the directors of the Mother Church will take the ground that the statute is a dead letter; that it has never been raised in any legal proceeding and, furthermore, that if operative it can only be taken advantage of by the state. In other words, they will claim that the heirs are powerless to act under this statute, which applies only when the state proceeds to nullify a will and take possession of the estate itself.

The only peg upon which this theory of the law can be hung is a decision of the Massachusetts supreme court three years ago in the case of Benjamin W. Hubbard and others against the Worcester Art Museum. Hubbard and his co-plaintiffs were the legal heirs of Stephen Salisbury, who left a will which devised the bulk of his fortune, estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,500,000, to the Worcester Art Museum. The heirs petitioned for leave to file an information in quo warranto proceedings against the respondent museum, their contention being that under the Massachusetts law a charitable institution could not hold real and personal estate to an amount exceeding the sum of $1,500,000.

The Worcester Art Museum was classed as a charitable institution because under its charter it was bound to maintain an institution for art education, etc. Furthermore, that all its property and funds were held solely in trust for the people of the city of Worcester. In this case, before the petitioning heirs began their proceedings, the Art Museum obtained the passage of a law through the Massachusetts legislature authorizing the museum to hold property to the value of $5,000,000. The decision of the court was against the heirs on the ground that the museum was a corporation empowered by charter to take and hold property; that all it held was held in trust for the people of Worcester; that under those circumstances the commonwealth alone could take advantage of the statute limiting holdings to $1,500,000, and furthermore, that the action of the legislature had definitely settled the question.

The importance of this case in its bearing upon the approaching battle over Mrs. Eddy's will is far greater than a first reading would indicate. It suggests a plan of action to the directors of the Mother Church, namely, an appeal to the Massachusetts legislature for a special law to validate the bequest of Mrs. Eddy. Students of conditions throughout New England will see small difficulty for the Christian Science Church in this undertaking. The cult of Mrs. Eddy is immensely powerful in Massachusetts and almost irresistible pressure could be brought to bear upon the legislature of that state by the Mother Church. It is known that Mr. Chandler and his associate counsel for the heirs are fully prepared for this move.

It is this phase of the situation that promises developments of the keenest interest to the public everywhere. If the Mother Church cannot legally inherit Mrs. Eddy's vast estate under the will, it will have to follow the example of the Worcester Art Museum and turn to the Massachusetts legislature for aid. If it does this the heirs are prepared at every point to oppose legislative action on the grounds that the Christian Science creed and practice are against public policy. This will mean a legal arraignment of the tenets of Christian Science under conditions that would assemble the whole civilized world in watchful audience.

BRITONS SEEK SOUTH POLE.

London Enthusiasts Plan a Second Antarctic Expedition to Secure Definite Charts.

London patrons of polar research are projecting a second expedition to the Antarctic region. They are confident that Captain Scott will succeed in passing Shackleton's furthest station and in reaching the South Pole by marching as strenuous and as scientific as Peary's in the north.

When that feat has been accomplished it will never be necessary to repeat it, but much exploration will be required before the Antarctic continent can be definitely outlined and charted. Members of the Royal Geographical Society are discussing the expediency of following up the discovery of the South Pole when it is made, with a systematic survey of the outer coast, of which isolated patches have been sighted here and there. Sir Ernest Shackleton is intensely interested in this proposal, and will volunteer for the leadership of an expedition if adequate funds can be raised for it.

Captain Cook made a circuit in high latitudes, crossing the Antarctic twice, Wilkes and Ross mapped large tracts of land, and the Challenger expedition supplemented their work. What is now proposed is an expedition with two ships, which will follow the ice barrier all the way around, forcing it at three or four points, so as to have landing parties at widely separated stations, and linking together the discoveries made by the various explorers, German, French, American and British. The cost of the expedition equipped for two or three years would exceed $600,000, and a liberal grant from Parliament would be necessary.

It is also suggested by enthusiasts in polar research that the co-operation of the French and German governments may be obtained for completing the work of Charcot and Gauss, and that Shackleton's line of operations can be restricted to the section of the coast between Victoria Land and Enderby Land, with two land stations.

PRACTICAL BENEFITS OF CITY BEAUTIFICATION.

[Franklin Clarkin in Success Magazine.]

In a large way, the best concrete example that will illustrate the question of the value of city improvements is the difference between Cleveland and Cincinnati. In the last few years, Cleveland has given a great deal of attention to city beautification in the way of parks, playgrounds, boulevards and her civic centre. These efforts have caused a wonderful growth in property values, in business and in the size of the city, so that she has outstripped Cincinnati, which city had a long lead in advance of Cleveland.

Cincinnati has fallen behind largely because she has not paid attention to these features of her city. In the last two years Cincinnati has wakened up to this fact, and she is making advances in the line of parks, playgrounds and general city beautification.

Columbus has had a greater and better advertisement in the last two years than at any time in her history, throughout the whole United States, by simply publishing, two or three years ago, a city plan, written by five civic experts.

There is not a section of our city of Columbus that does not show an example of where the land values of a neighborhood have largely increased by the improvement of the property of any one inhabitant of such a neighborhood.

PERSONALS.

....The resignation of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell as a trustee of the University of Pennsylvania, just made public, makes six vacancies which the board will fill at its meetings next year. Three of the vacancies were caused by death and three by resignations. Dr. Mitchell has been a member of the board 35 years. His reason for leaving the board has not been made public.

....Josiah H. Tilton of Cuttyhunk, the only survivor of a fearful tragedy in 1893, when Captain "Tim" Akin and all but one of his crew of volunteer life savers perished in going off to brig Aquatic, is dead at Cuttyhunk, aged 39 years. He had lived on the island all his life and his occupation had been that of a fisherman. He was a well known pilot, and had been selectman of the town for five or six years.

....Henry Odum, gardener for George E. Ross, former judge of the appellate court of Indiana, made his Christmas feast Sunday on a $100 rooster. Odum had been told that he could have a rooster confined in a particular coop, but made a mistake and chopepd off the head of "King Richard," mate to "Martha" which pair a few days ago won second prizes in the Rhode Island Red class at the Chicago Poultry Show. Eggs from this particular pair were in demand at $20 a dozen.

....The Detroit city council has voted to accept the $500,000 set aside by the will of James Scott, long a picturesque figure of that city, to be used in building a memorial fountain and life-size statue of him in Belle Isle Park. For more than a month the clergymen and various citizens and organizations fought against acceptance of the gift, because they considered its donor not the proper person to be remembered by any public object, even if he left the money for it. The clause in the will setting aside the half million dollars for the memorial has been dubbed "Jim Scott's last joke."

....Benn Pitman, known throughout the world for his activity in the development of the system of phonography which bears his name, a man of marked artistic talent and attainment, is dead in Cincinnati, in his eighty-ninth year. He had been ill about a year. While Benn Pitman always credited the invention of phonography to his older brother, Sir Isaac Pitman, there is no doubt but he is the preserver of the original system and the father of shorthand writing in America. He arrived in this country in January, 1853, having been at Trowbridge, England, July 22, 1822. Soon after his arrival in Cincinnati Mr. Pitman established the phonographic institute for the teaching of the art and the publication of texts pertaining to it, although it is engaged chiefly in the publication business now. He was also a teacher of fine wood engraving in the Cincinnati Art Academy, and took keen delight in exemplifying this art. Mr. Pitman was also the inventor of the electro process of relief engraving, which practically revolutionized plate making.

THE HUMAN FACE.

[William Ordway Partridge in Metropolitan Magazine.]

The human face—have you ever mused and sighed
Upon its power, this little round from brow to chin?
The thumb and fingers span it—have you tried
To sound its depth, its love to lose or win?
The eyes that look at you with Heaven's own light,
That quicken to the highest call, or woe
To Hell and all forgetful of right,
The eyes so potent with the hearts that sue!

The human face—these lips that toil and feel
All that life world can hold from fire to pole;
Their lids can change a kingdom, and the weal
Of human destiny is there—they own the soul;
We shall be judged by eyes and mouth at last,
Whatever life may come—whatever life is passed.

PATCHWORK AN AMERICAN ART.

[Charlotte F. Boldtmann in Woman's Home Companion.]

The idea that patchwork had its origin in America, is not founded on fact. A thousand years before the Christian era a queen of Egypt went down the Nile to her last resting-place under a wonderful canopy of skins that were dyed and pieced together in a mosaic pattern. Years before, this work had reached perfection and acquired a definite place among the arts. Then, too, patchwork quilts were made in England in the eighteenth century, as witness the lines written by Cowper to a Mrs. King upon receipt of "A kind present of a patchwork quilt of her own making."

Yet, in spite of history, patchwork is distinctly an American institution. In this big new country, where woman's work was never done, where even the few conveniences of the day were lacking, the women had no time to spend on any but the practical things of life. The mothers of this nation left behind them no wonderful historical needlework, like the Gobelin tapestries of France and the beautiful faces of Italy. There were all too few to attend to the spinning and weaving and household duties in the homes where dwelt not only the large family, but the hired help as well. To this alone is due the wonderful development of the patchwork quilt. For patchwork, first made by the thrifty housewife in the simplest patterns that no caller might be wasted, soon became not only the beginning of a wonderful American needlecraft, but a great source of development to the American woman herself. Patchwork brought other interests in the monotonous lives; it taught beauty of form and color, it cultivated the imagination, it increased the social instincts, it gave to women a certain healthful philosophy and a broader outlook on life.

AMERICANS CAPTURE PRIZES.

Harry Payne Whitney is high on the list of winning owners on the English turf. He won 46 races and is credited with $69,795 in prize money. W. A. Astor is seventh on the list, with nearly $60,000 to his credit. Of the other American owners, who have figured in the English turf records during the past year, August Belmont stands second, with $14,220 to his name as the result of nine winning horses. Lawrence Waterbury captured two races, which netted him $1,350. James R. Keene did not have a strong string and won but one race, the value of which was $500. H. B. Duryea and J. B. Leigh finished the season on the same level as Mr. Keene. Richard Croker did not race in England this year.

Seventy-four American-bred horses won 131 races on the English turf during 1910, the total winnings amounting to $161,795, which places them second to English-bred horses. Australia returned one winning horse, which captured three races. France was represented with 11 for a total of 16 races. Germany and Holland each sent one successful horse. Hon. G. Lamton heads the winning trainers, sending 54 winners to the post. Alec Taylor and R. Weetter were second and third on the list with 47 and 45, respectively. A. J. Joiner, the American trainer, put over 35 winners, while Sam Darling trained 31 winning horses, all of whom are credited with winning over $50,000.

Cyllen, for the second consecutive year, heads the list of winning sires, with $190,000. This is the highest sum credited to any stallion since 1900, when the famous St. Simon's progeny won $270,000. Hamburg is down for nearly $60,000 and August Belmont's Rocksand is shown as winning $31,500 with his get. Harry Payne Whitney's Meddler-bred horses won $27,000.

The constant aching of a bad back, The weariness, the tired feeling, The pains and aches of kidney ills Are serious—if neglected.

Dangerous urinary troubles follow. ..A Newport citizen shows you how to avoid them.

..Henry Vickers, 51 Second St., Newport, R. I., says: "My experience with Doan's Kidney Pills warrants me in vouching for their merit. Kidney trouble was brought on in my case, I believe, by the injurious effect on my kidneys of the paints and oils used in my work. The secretions from my kidneys contained considerable sediment, scalded when being voided and passed far too frequently. I was subject to dizzy spells, felt tired and languid and was devoid of energy. The good reports I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills led me to go to Wright & Hay's Drug Store and get the remedy. A great improvement was noticeable soon after I began its use and in a short time my whole system was toned up. I consider it no more than my duty to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

WOOL PRICES AND TARIFF AGITATION.

Twenty years ago, for a period of two years or more, the wool and woolens business was very bad. There were many failures in the trade, and the demand for woolens was exceedingly unsatisfactory. Apart from the financial injury entailed by this condition, it was embarrassing to the protectionists because the McKinley tariff, the highest we had ever had, which gave the sheep and the woolen mill men everything they asked for and more than they had had under the tariff of 1883, had just been enacted.

Much the same condition has now been repeated. In the middle of last year a tariff bill was passed which was quite satisfactory to the sheep men and entirely so to the worsted men, though the men who made fabrics of carded wool made many protests against it. In the main it simply renewed the concessions to that interest made by the McKinley and Dingley tariffs. The past year, however, has been far from prosperous. Wool prices have been down, and so have the prices of woolens. There has even been an export of wool from this country, where the price is much higher than abroad, so that a considerable quantity of wool is imported after paying rates of duty generally very high in proportion to the value of the wool.

This is not an easy matter for the high protectionists and the wool and sheep men to account for. The Annual Wool Review explains that the exports of wool were "the direct result of persistent political agitation for a re-opening and reduction of the tariff, particularly of schedule K." There is a good deal of imagination about this. If true, however, it would involve protectionists as well as their opponents in condemnation, for the agitation for a re-opening of the wool duties was conducted more energetically by the manufacturers of carded wool than by any other persons. What they demanded, too, had been urged a dozen years ago by the man who is now at the head of the American Woolen Company, and while the protectionists did not expect the election last month to go against them, they knew that if it did it would be almost impossible to have the tariff changed before the spring or early summer of 1912. The theory does not fit the fact of low wool prices in a great part of the year 1910.

CITY PLANNING.

For several years the phrase, "The City Beautiful," has been in common use to designate the improvement in the conditions of civic life which was the aim of those who were seeking to make cities better and more attractive and desirable as places of residence. It proved a popular cry and in many cities under that call vigorous efforts have been made, with a considerable degree of success, to increase in every possible way the natural attractions and at the same time add others which would serve to draw new residents and make life more pleasant and comfortable for those already there. In this work some mistakes were made, and one thing was overemphasized while others were neglected. The trouble was that attention was given to improvements in a haphazard sort of way and not according to a system, and while in practically every case work was done with the object in view of making the city more beautiful in some instances the improvement wrought was a handicap rather than an advantage when the needs and the appearance of the entire city were viewed.

As a result of this one-sided development of a city in the effort to attain what it was considered was represented by the phrase, "The City Beautiful," a new cry for attention to "City Planning" has been sent out. That phrase expresses just the lack fought in the former attempt to improve the conditions of the life of a city. There was too little system and no attention to a general plan. The work done was spasmodic or confined to spots, and there was no thought as to the effect which one improvement would have on the whole city, but it was made without any idea that it ought to be related to the entire work to be done. Now the course followed in efforts to make a city a better place in which to live is to plan largely and carefully, so that all that is done shall be harmonious and related.

There is just as much desire and purpose under the new idea to create a city beautiful as there was when that phrase expressed all that was being done, but the present movement means more than that and the effort is to make a city beautiful along lines which will be effective and harmonious. The fact has been appreciated that orderliness is essential to beauty and that there can really be no city beautiful unless that beauty applies to the entire municipality and is not confined to particular spots while others are neglected. So now those who are seeking to make a city attractive plan the whole work, just as they would plan a house, a landscape garden or any other creation which needs to be viewed broadly and with attention to all its parts. The old idea was to take one thing at a time and accomplish that, and then look for something else to do, and the result naturally was that these separate pieces produced a sort of patchwork effect and there was no real plan affecting the whole.

The cry, "The City Beautiful," served admirably to call attention to the fact that work was needed for the improvement of the appearance and the conditions in cities. The new phrase, "City Planning," now CULTIVATION OF FORESTS.

We are berating ourselves severely now for cutting off our forests too rapidly and are calling ourselves or somebody else, or our ancestors, all sorts of disagreeable names for not conserving the timber wealth of the country. Yet our ancestors were not fools, and perhaps we are not. The pioneers were obliged to cut down forests to clear the land. Later, forests were freely sacrificed for lumber, fuel and wood pulp, but if the forests afforded the cheapest materials we could secure for necessary purposes it is not clear that we or people before us ought to have gone without things which were needed, or for which the demand was good, in order to save a material which was abundant and cheap.

Now a great part of the forests have gone. Lumber is becoming expensive and some useful sorts are almost exhausted. We are beginning to do the sensible thing and are re-planting forests. New York is buying large sections of the Adirondacks to save the forests and Pennsylvania is buying the mountain sides and planting trees thereon. Many railroads are planting trees to supply ties, for the steel tie has not yet demonstrated its utility, and if steel ties were used the conservationists would complain that we were exhausting our mineral resources. They are not replaceable, but the forests are; we can grow them again.

The superintendent of forests in New York gives some interesting news in his annual report. He says the lumber, wood pulp and paper companies are planting trees so that they can raise their own supplies. Farmers are planting trees on their waste lands as an investment, and public and private water companies are planting trees on their watersheds. If the lumbers and wood pulp companies are planting forests and states and water companies are doing so, 20 years will make a great change in the supply of timber. It is not so very foolish to use wood freely when it is abundant, and it is certainly wise to plant trees when they are growing scarce.

It is quite evident that Rhode Island will have an additional Congressman in an re-apportionment which Congress may make. The powers that be are determined that no state shall lose a Representative, and that is apparently the only basis which can be adopted. A House of 435 members will undoubtedly be unwieldy, but in the eyes of those in control that is better than a loss of a member to several states. Why does not Congress come down to business and make an apportionment which will give the country a smaller House and a fairer representation of the voting populations in the states?

It is not many years ago that the white squadron made a cruise to foreign ports to show other countries that the United States had a new navy. Now the Detroit, a small cruiser which was one of the squadron, has been sold, having become obsolete. The Detroit was authorized by Congress in 1883. Perhaps the most notable incident in her career was when, in the early nineties, under command of Commander, now Rear Admiral, Willard H. Brownson, she broke the Mello blockade in the harbor of Rio Janeiro.

Congressman Weeks of Massachusetts has been selected to head the Republican National committee and assist in the re-election of President Taft in 1912. It will take not only weeks, but months, and at least two years, to overcome the effect of the recent election and assure Taft's return. It is not unlikely, however, that the Democrats, in power for two years, may do more to bring about a Republican victory than anything the Republicans themselves can do.

Governor Horace White of New York, who has been serving only since Governor Hughes resigned, and will end his present official duties next Monday, has been growing fat in office and is said to be glad that he has only a short time to serve. He has gained in weight daily, and feels that if this increase should continue through a full term he would be too large for comfort. He has not made much stir as governor, nor has he had much opportunity.

Candidates are increasing for the various city offices to be filled by the Representative Council next Monday. Almost without exception the present officials are ready for re-election, some being as yet unopposed, while others will have several candidates in opposition. From present indications there will be but few changes in the list. On the whole, there is little demand for a change.

On the eve of the assembling of the legislature it looks very much as if the Republicans of the state are pretty well divided on the Senatorship and speakership questions, and possibly on other important matters to be brought before the Assembly.

THE JANUARY MAGAZINES.

The Woman's Home Companion starts the new year with a continued story in which "votes for women" has a prominent place. This suffragette love story is entitled "In the Land of To-morrow," is by Maude Radford Warren and is a distinct departure from the usual magazine story. Other fiction in this number includes "The Nine Brides," by Juliet Wilbor Tompkins; "Pierrette and the Gray Monk," by Fannie Heaslip Lea, and the third part of "The Admiral's Niece," a delightful tale by Kate Douglas Wiggin and her collaborators.

Beginning with a new year, home lovers all over the country make resolutions for improvement in the house. Fitting in with such plans, the Woman's Home Companion offers articles on home decoration entitled "Furnishing the Small Library," "Bookcase and Magazine Stand," "Library Scarfs in Cross-Stitch," "The Business Side of a Country Home," "Patch-work Quilts of a Hundred Years Ago," "Good Music for Everyone," etc.

For winter days and nights the following seem to hold valuable suggestions: "How to Use Your Public Library," "January Church Fetes," "Books to Read Aloud," "The Doctor's Page," "Making the Baby's Layette," "How to Make Sleds and Toboggans," "Wireless Telegraphy," "How to Make Croquettes."

Miss Gould's fashion department covers various points, including "The New Evening Cloak," "New Veils and Hatpins," "Underwear for Young Folks," "The New Theatre Bonnet," "The New Silver Bag," and many others.

For the younger readers Bessie O'Neil still continues her Kewpie yarn, and "The Adventures of Jack and Betty" are popular.

Under the heading, "Theodore Roosevelt—Please Answer," the Metropolitan Magazine for January prints the first in a series of articles by the editor, M. E. Stone, Jr., in which Colonel Roosevelt is asked to justify certain acts in his political career, which the writer feels require explanation. The first article deals with the ex-President's career up to the time of his election to the governorship of New York. An article of especial timeliness in view of Dr. Cook's recent plea of polar insanity is "Sleuthing on Mount McKinley," in which Belmore Browne publishes the photographic evidence of Cook's McKinley fake obtained by the Parker-Browne expedition last summer. "A Great Fire and Its Heroes," is a story in text and pictures of the recent terrible forest fire in Minnesota.

A notable art feature of the number is a series of eight satirical cartoons by R. de L'Abisme, entitled "The Boy's Work in Society." The current installment of "The Life Story of J. Pierpont Morgan," by Carl Hovey, relates how Mr. Morgan first became an influence in railroad affairs. There is the usual variety of the fiction, which includes a love story by Mary Stewart Cutting and Anthony Hope's serial, "Mrs. Maxon Protests," which reaches its fourth instalment. The department of "Notes and Pictures" includes a number of personal sketches and portraits of interesting people.

THE FUN OF SPENDING MONEY.

[W. C. Jenkins, in National Magazine.]

The attitude of the United States regarding the high cost of living is about like that shown in Nast's famous cartoon of the Tweed ring: It is always the other fellow who is responsible and not one's self. We accept high prices for what we produce with a virtuous air of having gotten only our just deserts, whereas we strenuously object to paying higher prices for things produced by others; and so we raise the question of blame.

Committees of Congress and various commissions have been trying to fix the blame. It would be only fair to say that we are all to blame, for the fundamental reasons for higher prices of things lie to a large extent back of the present generation and beyond the power of present control.

Once a Colorado plainsman, who took the Pikes Peak train in '59, complaining that "these days are not like the old days." Now he works on a ranch for $40 a month and board. In the old days he got from $12 to $15 a day. Asked concerning the cost of flour, pork, clothing and other necessities in '59 his answer showed that he had nothing left, as indeed his character would indicate. But when it was said to him that he was no better off in those days than now he answered: "Well, maybe not, but I had the fun of spending the money." It is so with most of us; we prefer the large income, even though the outgo is proportionately as large.

Speaker Burchard Not to Withdraw from the Contest.

Two Providence School Gardens Awarded National Prizes—Westerly Man Drowned.

Roswell B. Burchard, for the past four years Speaker of the house of representatives in the General Assembly, declares that he has no intention of withdrawing his name from the contest for the 1911 Speakership. His statement disposed of a rumor that Mr. Burchard had decided to retire from the race for the honor and thus leave the field clear for William C. Bliss of East Providence, deputy Speaker last year, whose chances of securing the place are declared promising by his supporters. When asked if he had decided to retire from the contest, Mr. Burchard said: "I have no intention of withdrawing. Of course, I value highly the honor of the position, and I think I can serve the Assembly better in doing work with which I am familiar than in taking up something new. I have been assured of the support of more than a majority of the Republican members of the House, and whether I am correctly informed or not will be determined in a perfectly friendly manner in the caucus Friday." Republican leaders who have aligned themselves with Mr. Bliss express the greatest confidence in the East Providence man's success in the caucus. They say that from their knowledge of the situation Mr. Bliss should receive the votes of 48 of the 63 Republican members of the lower branch of the Assembly.

It is announced that Providence school gardens have been awarded two prizes in the national competition for school or children's garden work conducted throughout the United States during the past season. The gardens at Roger Williams Park were awarded the first prize in class 2 of these contests, for the finest bedding gardens of three or more years cultivation under city conditions, in competition with similar gardens all over the United States. The second prize for the best home vegetable garden conducted by a boy or girl of school age has been awarded to Howard O'Connell, 32 McKinley street, Providence, who was a pupil the past season at the Roger Williams Park gardens. The school garden work was carried on through the co-operation of the State Board of Agriculture, the extension department of the Rhode Island State College and the League of Improvement Societies, with the various public schools in Providence and other sections of the state during the past year. The national competition was conducted throughout the country by a horticultural magazine.

James E. Burke, Jr., of Westerly is believed to have been drowned in the waters of Little Narragansett bay, having been missing since Sunday afternoon. Burke, with A. T. Ledwidge, an attorney, with whom he was studying, went to Boon Island to spend Sunday and Monday. On arriving at the clubhouse there he told Mr. Ledwidge that he intended going fishing. Mr. Ledwidge tried to discourage him and thought he would need him. Shortly after, Burke disappeared and Mr. Ledwidge found his rubber boots, the boat oars and fishing tackle missing. The boat had been unfastened and was nowhere to be seen. An all-night search of the bay revealed nothing but Monday the skiff was found bottom side up in the ice near Osbrook point. One of the seats was broken, and it is supposed that the boat became fast in the ice, and in getting out to try to push it off, Burke slipped and fell. He was about 32 years old and made his home in Norwich, Conn., before going to Westerly.

A new Catholic parish has been formed in the North End section of Providence. The church will be erected on North Main street between Eighth and Ninth streets, and will be in charge of the Dominican Fathers of Boston, it is said. The formation of this parish involves at the same time the division of three other parishes—St. Mary's, of Pawtucket; the Immaculate Conception, whose church is on West River street, and the Church of the Holy Name, Camp street. The new parish will take in that part of the Holy Names parish north of Rochambeau avenue, that part of the Immaculate Conception parish north of the burial ground, and that part of St. Mary's parish, Pawtucket, which is located south of Warren avenue. It is a growing section, many homes having been built there during the past few months. The large increase in the population and the distance from the district to any of the three neighboring churches, made the formation of a new parish necessary. The formation of the new parish and the erection of a church there will bring to 23 the number of Catholic churches in Providence.

James H. McGlynn of Central Falls, past high grand chief ranger of the Irish National Foresters, and the leader of that organization in New England, died in Central Falls Wednesday, aged 47. He was the first man in New England to hold that office in the American branch of the organization, which was established in Central Falls about 10 years ago. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the General Assembly at the last election. Mr. McGlynn was born in New Bedford, and removed to Central Falls about 30 years ago. He took an active interest in politics, and for a long time was one of the leaders in the Democratic party in the old town of Lincoln before its division from Central Falls. Later, when Central Falls became a city, he was recognized as a leading spirit in the affairs of the party. Mr. McGlynn was a popular member of the order of the Irish National Foresters, and was honored by being elected to the office of high chief ranger of the supreme branch, having been a past chief ranger of Branch William O'Brien. He was also instrumental in the organization of Central Falls Nest of Owls, and held the office of president in that body at the time of his death. He was a member of Division No. 1, Ancient Order of Hibernians, of Pawtucket.

Articles of association have been taken out at the office of the secretary of state for the incorporation of the Columbus Exchange Bank, to be located in Providence. The capital stock is $100,000, composed of 2,000 shares of $50 each, which with the surplus of $20,000 has all been paid in. The sum of $100 has been deposited, in accordance with the banking laws, with the general treasurer, Walter A. Read. The incorporation of this bank was first decided upon early in March last, and March 25 a hearing was held before Bank Examiner William P. Goodwin. This is the first charter to be issued to a banking concern under the banking law.

Following the consecretaion of Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., bishop-elect of the diocese of Rhode Island, January 6, the seventy-seventh regular meeting of the Churchmen's Club will be held at which there will be a reception and a dinner. The first half-hour will be spent in a reception to the new bishop, to be followed by the dinner. Among the speakers who have been announced are Rev. James DeWolf Perry, Jr., Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, D. D., Bishop of Missouri; Rt. Rev. Cleland K. Nelson, Bishop of Atlanta; Rt. Rev. Chauncey B. Brewster, D. D., Bishop of Connecticut; Rt. Rev. David H. Greer, D. D., Bishop of New York, and Rev. William H. P. Faunce, D. D., president of Brown University.

A FERTILE COLORADO VALLEY.

[Christian Herald.]

The principal fruit growing sections of Colorado are located in the fertile valleys of the western slope of the Rockies. From the grand valley last year, 1909, there were shipped over 3,000 carloads of fruit, more than the combined output of Oregon, Washington and Idaho. This immense output was harvested from a strip of valley land not more than 25 miles in length and only about eight or 10 miles wide. This valley is favored by a climate most delightful. Many winters the temperatures do not descend to the zero point. The length of the growing season is longer than any other fruit growing section in the West, exclusive of Arizona and California, and there is an average of 196 days between frosts. All the varieties of California and European grapes flourish in this valley and yield not uncommonly from $100 to $200 per acre. The yields per acre of apples amount to $1,000. Rev. J. A. Becker, of Grand Junction, sold from his orchard of Jonathans $1,900 worth of fruit from a single acre.

CHRISTMAS IN THE CHURCHES.

Entertainments for the Pleasure of the Sunday School Pupils.

United Congregational, Trinity, First Presbyterian, Emmanuel and St. George's.

The Christmas festival of the Sunday School of the United Congregational Church took place Wednesday evening in the parish house, where the children, and a large number of adults gathered in the large hall to witness a Christmas play and enjoy the good cheer which had been arranged.

When the curtain went up for the play, "Santa's Surprise," Santa, represented by Mr. W. H. Chapin, was represented seated on the stage, wearied with his labors and feeling aggrieved that his sack had been exhausted, while there were still many poor children whom he had not been able to visit. He fell asleep and the children of the school came in, and finding Santa's sack empty proceeded to fill it with toys, books and other good things. Each scholar, on placing his contribution in the bag, had a recitation or song, and when Santa Claus awoke and found his bag filled there were more songs and recitations, and Santa ended by presenting each of the children with a package of candy.

The children of the Sunday School received no gifts, but following a custom of recent years brought presents to be distributed by the district nurses of the Newport Hospital to children in the city who have not had their share of Christmas. After the play ice cream and cake were served to all in the assemblage, and after some of the younger children had departed there was dancing for an hour, Miss Titcomb playing the piano.

The entertainment was in charge of a committee of teachers and the play was arranged by the members of the girls' club, the Synergol, with Mrs. Hulbert in charge. There were 40 of the Sunday School pupils on the stage during the play, the Kindergarten class being well represented and singing a pretty Christmas song.

Wednesday afternoon at Trinity hall the kindergarten department and primary grade II had their Christmas entertainment. Professor Gould of Providence, assisted by three women, furnished an hour's pleasure, the program beginning with a duet for mandolin and piano by two of the latters. A recitation was then given and Professor Gould performed several puite wand magic feats—knife disappearing, shower of colors, handkerchief tricks, etc. Miss Rice sang "The Maid of Dundee" and the Hindoo Trunk Mystery was performed, another name for it being instantaneous substitution. The program was brought to a close by songs by Miss Rice. During the afternoon "Seein' Kings at Night" was well recited by a member of the troupe. Gifts were distributed to the children and ice cream, cake and candy were served. The kindergarten girls and the girls of primary grade I (Miss Rounds's class) received dolls this year dressed by the Girls' Friendly Society.

In the evening the junior and senior departments were entertained, Miss Marie Brown rendering piano selections before the play, "Christmas on the Ranch," which was presented under the direction of Miss Ethel K Simes-Nowell. This is an unpublished play written by a member of Professor Baker's dramatic class at Harvard and produced by Radcliffe girls.

The play was artistically staged. The juveniles, Masters Frank Goddard and Theodore Stenholm, as Freddie and Dick were capital; Mr. Thomas Aldred and Miss Anna Ehrhardt were good as Mr. and Mrs. Darling, and Messrs. Manuel Jemaiel, William Foster, Ray Griffith and Lloyd Curtis were excellent as the stranger, the doctor, an officer of the law and the sheriff, respectively. The play was unusually well given, considering the fact that but few rehearsals were held.

Between the acts Miss Kate Holland played and after the play ice cream, cake and candy were served. Dancing followed, music being furnished by Miss Holland, piano, and Mr. Harry K. Howard, violin.

The Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church had its Christmas festival Wednesday evening. The exercises were under the direction of the superintendent, Mr. Alexander J. MacIver, with Miss Mary Mackie in charge of the primary department work. A program of recitations and songs was given by the children. The school sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers," "While Shepherds Watched," "Noel," "Little Town of Bethlehem," and "We Three Kings of Orient Are"; the primary department gave "Christmas Lullaby," "Snow Flakes," and "Snow Man"; Marian Tease sang "Teddy," and Florence Tease "Jack in the Box." Recitations were given by Robert Campbell, Gladys Sellars, Willie McConnell, Lincoln Dyer, Agnes Owen, Arthur Clark, Edward Whitten, Edith Davis, Lottie Lummer, Della Leys, Hope Dyer, Alfred Dunbar, Jack Howieson, Adolph Wursch, Beth Leys, Percy Judd, Roger Segures, Willie Sellars, John McLellan, Pauline Buenzle, Mary Franklin, Florence Matson, Gladys Lummer and Flora Gerrie. Miss Elizabeth Haire played the organ and Miss Jennie Stoddard the piano during the exercises.

After this program the presents were distributed from the Christmas tree, under the direction of Mr. Edgar Sloats as Santa Claus. In addition to the gifts to the scholars and teachers, the superintendent, Mr. MacIver, was given a cut glass ice cream service by the officers and teachers; Mr. William J. Dunbar was given a purse of gold and Mr. H. Wood Thompson, the organist, a scarf pin.

The Christmas festival of the Sunday School of Emmanuel Church Wednesday evening took the form of an entertainment by the Gould & Rice Company of Providence, somewhat similar to that given by the same entertainers at Trinity in the afternoon. The program occupied an hour and a half and included songs by Miss Essie Rice, mandolin solos and humorous recitations by Miss May Rice and novel tricks in prestidigitation by Mr. W. H. Gould. These introduced a new repertoire of American, Japanese and European experiments in sleight-of-hand. There were two notable tricks, one a marvelous escape from a mail bag after it had been rivetted, bolted and padlocked, Miss Rice escaping from the fastened bag in a short time, apparently in full view of the audience. The other was the Hindu Trunk Mystery, in which Miss Rice escaped after the trunk had been securely closed and sealed. The tricks and music were enjoyed by a large audience. Refreshments were served to all.

The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday School of St. George's Church Wednesday evening included a playlet, "A Christmas Party"; a tree with gifts, and refreshments. In the playlet representatives of different countries told their conception of Santa Claus, Holland being represented by Florence Plummer and Kenneth Kaull, Germany by Dorothy Mustard and Henry Sherman, Norway by Annie Elliott and R. Elliott, Italy by Ruth Derby and William Huckins, England by Helen Stratford and George Huckins, and America by Martha Barker and Anthony Mitchell. After they had told their stories Santa Claus, impersonated by Mr. LeRoy Grinnell, appeared and distributed the gifts. The entertainment was in charge of Miss Lillian Manchester and Miss Marguerita King.

Mary J Gilbane of Providence has sold to James A. Lee, also of Providence, a lot of land near Beavertail known as lot 2 on the Hull Cove plat.

MR. LEHR TAKING THE REST CURE.

Mr. Herry S. Lehr is a patient at St. Agnes Hospital, Baltimore, where he is taking the rest cure. St. Agnes is noted for its treatment of nervous troubles. Mr. Lehr went to the institution Tuesday, and is epected to remain a fortnight. He went to Baltimore several weeks ago, suffering from nervous indigestion, and made his headquarters at the home of his mother. He was frequently seen on the streets, and his plan was to go to Hot Springs for further recuperation. His wife went to Baltimore to make the journey with him, but his improvement was not so rapid as had been expected, and upon the advice of his physician he decided to go to St. Agnes.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. Brenton Greene will be at "Sunnylawn" over New Year's.

—William Loftus has rented for Mrs. A. E. Kelly her upper tenement at 10 Everett street to J. J. Walsh.

—Mr. Henry Commette, who spent the Christmas holidays with his mother in this city, returned to New York Wednesday evening.

—The daughter of Commander and Mrs. Yarnell, at the Torpedo Station, who is ill with pneumonia, has passed the danger point.

—The Torpedo Station diving outfit is at work in the channel between Long wharf and the main wharf, at the Station, making repairs to one of the Station's water supply pipes.

—F. J. Haley, W. T. Turner and Harry Gilford of Boston; J. M. Cobb of Haverhill, Mass.; R. C. Proctor of Gloucester; J. M. Smith of Portsmouth, N. H.; A. H. Hoxie of Providence and L. A. Evans of New York are registered at the Perry House.

—The new time ball is dropping on time; that is, is dropping synchronously. It takes it a much longer time to reach the bottom, or basket, than it takes the old one; but great bodies move slowly, and the new ball is a great body. Six feet across and 400 pounds in weight is certainly big.

—The stucco workers have completed their task at the new Colonial Theatre, the staging has been taken down and the painters are at work. The grade of the auditorium floor is now being struck, and it is apparent that it will be sufficient to give every one a good view of the stage, regardless of who sits in front.

—The Bellini Musical Club gave a social in Realty Hall Wednesday night which was a complete success in every way. Something like 300 couples were present to enjoy the dancing and the music was by Mc Closkey's orchestra. Benny Goldsville acted as floor director. There was a prize waltz, which was won by Mr. Harrington and partner.

—Wednesday was a good one for the fishermen all around. The regular trawlers caught from 700 to 1,200 pounds of cod and haddock, good fares. They go well outside and were fishing over the mussel beds. The beam trawlers in the bay also seemed to have a renewal of fishing, which for them has been dead for some time, and all had good fares, some 45 barrels of flatfish and about 40 barrels of "dabs" being shipped.

—A district messenger wire dropped across Thames street this forenoon, and Officer Coggeshall guarded it until a telephone lineman removed it. These wires are maintained without resident linemen to care for them, so that in an emergency, if trouble is to be averted, some one whose business it is not to meddle with it must lend a hand. The wire fell on a number of light wires and was lightly charged with current thus picked up.

—Things still peg along at the Army and Navy building. The few carpenters who are erecting forms are doing their best, but many others, supposing there was a desire to rush things during the favorable weather, applied for work this morning, only to learn that there were enough. A cargo of hollow tile is arriving for partition construction, but the stone and brick masons do not show much progress. The pipers and concrete workers are waiting.

—Mrs. Mary Isabella Neilson, mother-in-law of Reginald C. Vanderbilt and sister of Frederic Gebhard, who died last summer, has applied to Justice Amend in the New York supreme court for the appointment of the Lincoln Trust Company as trustee under the will of her father, Frederic C. Gebhard, in place of August Limbert, who died in September last. The trust fund, in which Mrs. Neilson has a life interest, amounts to $980,418.

—The Old Colony Street Railway Company, which controls many of the electric roads in southeastern Massachusetts and Rhode Island, including the Fall River line, has asked the Massachusetts railroad commission for the approval of an issue of $300,000 common stock, to pay for permanent additions and improvement. The company claims to have spent $629,000 during the past few months and has partially paid for these improvements out of a bond issue of $270,000.

"THE YANKEE GIRL" ALL RIGHT.

Newport's Verdict on Blanche Ring and Her Company in Her Latest Production.

Newport's verdict, like Boston's, appears to be that "The Yankee Girl" is all right. Every seat was occupied at the Opera House Wednesday evening and the standing room was crowded until it was filled. The production is a pleasing composition of song, action and dialogue, which, presented by a well balanced troupe headed by such stars as Blanche Ring and Harry Gilfoil, gave an entertainment seldom equalled.

While there was quantity, quality seemed to have been the main feature in making up the company. Were this not so, it would have been impossible for Miss Ring, when one of her songs proved a hit, to respond to the many encores by selecting different girls from the chorus to sing different verses, while she took the foreground in comedy remarks. In chorus the girls were pleasing, and they showed equally well in solo work.

Miss Ring has a sweet voice, an easy stage appearance and a natural inclination to comedy, all of which go to make a winning stage personality. Harry Gilfoil is a great mimic and his vocal displays were not only surprising but striking. In addition to the fine balance of the company and the true musical ring of its work, the songs were catchy and taking, the costuming was rich and the stage settings elaborate though not with the suggestion of being encumbered.

The applause was liberal for a Newport audience. At the close of the first act a handsome bunch of American Beauty roses was handed over the footlights to Miss Ring, and at the end of the second another bouquet went the same way. During the second act the roses appeared appropriately decorating a library table, a little point which suggested that they were appreciated.

It should be needless to say that the production was that of a big city stage, and if there is any criticism, allowing of course that it was built for the star, it was that it is devoid of the solidity given by a good male chorus. The absence of such voices was remarked during the performance more than anything else. The songs were old, but were rendered as they are seldom heard.

After the installation there was a social session, during which a pleasing program was rendered as a result of the activity of the entertainment committee.

LIEUTENANT AND MRS. RAGSDALE.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Earl Wilson Ragsdale, who were married in Halifax, Nova Scotia, Monday afternoon, were visitors in Newport Wednesday, being entertained at luncheon by Dr. and Mrs. R. F. Darrah and at dinner by Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. James C. Sanford. Lieutenant Ragsdale is a son of James W. Ragsdale, consul general of the United States at Halifax, and Mrs. Ragsdale, and is stationed at Fort Monroe. His bride was Miss Nina Patonieff of Tien Tsin, China, a Russian by birth, who had come recently from China to be married.

The Brussels lace veil which the bride wore was worn by Miss Effie Ragsdale, sister of this week's groom, a few months ago, and will also be worn by Miss Faith Sanford on the occasion of her marriage to Lieutenant Marks, next June. Miss Sanford having been bridesmaid at the wedding of Miss Ragsdale. Lieutenant and Mrs. Ragsdale left Wednesday evening on the boat for New York, on their way to Virginia, where the groom will join his regiment. James W. CONTEST FOR SPEAKERSHIP.

Three Cornered Fight Expected In Massachusetts Legislature.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—For the first time in more than a quarter of a century, a contest for the speakership between the two leading parties is expected next week on the floor of the lower branch of the legislature. The candidates are Joseph Walker of Brookline, the speaker for the past two years; Martin M. Lomasney, the Democratic leader of Ward 8, Boston, and Charles F. McCarthy of Marlboro, a prominent Democrat of Middlesex county. Speaker Walker had already picked out the house committees for the coming session, which convenes next Wednesday, when his political advisors in the house convinced him that the situation was not quite so bright as in former years. Hence a personal letter was sent to the 127 Republican members of the house, pointing out the fact that the Democratic minority was larger and more formidable than ever before, and lacked only nine of being an actual majority of the whole house. The Democrats' next session will number 112, and the one Socialist member is regarded as likely to support a Democrat for speaker.

In years past all speakership contests have been confined to the Republican caucus, usually held an hour before the house convenes. The situation in the lower branch of the legislature this year is interestingly complicated. There are six or eight avowed Republican insurgents, especially on the question of the re-election of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. Some of these insurgents are ardent supporters of Speaker Walker. Mr. Walker is an avowed candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next fall, and refuses to go through the customary preliminary training of the lieutenant governorship before aspiring to full honors. The Democratic minority is not united in its opposition to Speaker Walker although Mr. Lomasney claims a greater part of the Democratic members. Lieutenant Governor Louis A. Frothingham is a candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next year, in opposition to Speaker Walker, and Martin M. Lomasney supported Mr. Frothingham in an unsuccessful contest for mayor of Boston five years ago.

Both Republicans and Democrats will hold caucus Wednesday forenoon and an attempt will be made in both cases to bind the members to the caucus selections. No contest is anticipated in the senate over the re-election of President Allen T. Treadway of Stockbridge, as that branch stands 25 Republicans against 15 Democrats.

Governor Eugene N. Foss will be inaugurated Thursday.

Curley says he has wired a $500 forfeit to a Chicago sporting editor and would be in Chicago today to make the match.

A POWER IN THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The Ways and Means Committee Likely to Gain by New Rules.

Victor Murdock Depressed by Troubles of Being an Insurgent—Taft's Offer to Hughes.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—If the Democratic caucus which is to be held next month carries out the present plan and authorizes the ways and means committee to name the other committees of the House it will make that committee the great power in the Sixty-second Congress—more powerful than the Speaker, the committee on rules and, in fact, more powerful than all other committees combined. The wirepulling that has been going on for the selection of the new ways and means membership will continue right up to the time the caucus meets.

By selecting the majority of the ways and means committee a long time in advance of the meeting of Congress and allowing it to hold its sessions during the recess the Democrats will escape a great many difficulties. The other committees can be selected during the long recess and the ways and means can take its time. It will also avoid persistent personal solicitation from members who are seeking good chairmanships and other committee places.

When President Taft tendered the appointment of associate justice to Governor Hughes he wrote him that if the chief justiceship was vacant he would offer him that position, but the President did not want that statement to bind him as to any future action. No doubt for many months the President had it in mind to make Hughes chief justice and probably would have done so if opposition in the Senate had not developed to such an extent as to render it impossible to make the appointment.

It has always been supposed that the contest for being the noisiest protectionist in Congress lay between Senator Scott of West Virginia and Congressman Joe Fordney of Michigan, but Senator Reyburn of Idaho can be put somewhere among the leaders. In a colloquy with Senator Cummins of Iowa and in reply to a question as to how high he would make the tariff Reyburn said:

"I would make it so high that a man would not have to have a microscope in order to find it; that he would be in no danger of running against it in the dark; that he would be at liberty to conduct his own business with his neighbors or his fellow American citizens without the threat that if you do not yield to me I will call in the Hessians. It should be that high, all right."

Victor Murdock, the Kansas Congressman, who first began ingratiating himself with the people when he fought against the high rates paid to the railroads for carrying the mails, has been made to pay the penalty of independence. "You have no idea what I have had to go through," he said. "I have been subjected to sneers and insults, to jeers and covert insinuations. I have been ostracized for my opinions. My motives have been impugned, and, in fact, everything possible has been done to make my life miserable. I tell you, any man who undertakes to do anything different from treading the beaten path marked out for him by his party in Congress must suffer."

The friends with whom Murdock has talked know that this hurt feeling has taken a deep hold upon him. It has poisoned his life and almost estranged him from continuing a course which has brought upon him so much misery.

"I noticed in a Gridiron skit," said a Republican Congressman, "that the member who was taking the part of Champ Clark as Speaker said in answer to the question as to what he would do with Uncle Joe Cannon that he would make him chairman of the committee on the disposition of waste paper. I would have had some one put it by saying that Champ come back by saying that Uncle Joe ought not to do that, for Uncle Joe might dig up some of Champ's free trade speeches and make trouble."

"Oh, that's all right; Jim's used to it," was the remark of a Senator the day that the Vice President was turned down on his quorum counting act. He went on to say that Vice President Sherman had experience at Saratoga last fall when Roosevelt took the temporary chairmanship away from him. Once when Sherman was presiding in committee of the whole in the House one of his rulings was overturned. It was the first time an effort was made to give Cuba a tariff reduction on sugar, and the best sugar men and the Democrats tacked on an amendment which killed the whole thing because it put all sugar on the free list. Sherman was unquestionably right in his ruling, but the necessity of the occasion disregarded parliamentary law.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE

Between Promises and Actual Results.

Promises won't overcome hair trouble. The manufacturers of Newbro's Herpicide promise nothing which is not justified by an intelligent use of this preparation. The desired end ultimately becomes an accomplished fact. This is the reason that Herpicide has thousands of satisfied friends all over the world.

By keeping the scalp clean and healthy and destroying the dandruff germ, Newbro's Herpicide makes beautiful hair. Herpicide prevents the hair from falling and allows it to grow unhindered and naturally except in cases of chronic baldness which is incurable.

One dollar size bottles are guaranteed by all druggists to do these things.

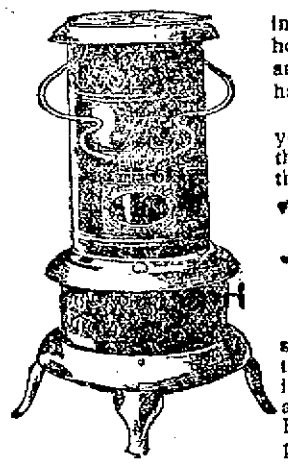
Fresh Air in Winter



In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.

If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.

The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at yours, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The enterprising butcher solicits business over the telephone. He tells his customers what he has.

The local Bell Telephone System helps him to get trade and the long distance helps him to hold it.

Doubt as to Mental Condition of Indicted Man.

Northern Bank, Controlled by Robin, to Pay Depositors in Full.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The grand jury this afternoon handed down an indictment against Joseph G. Robin, whose financial transactions are alleged to be responsible for the closing of the Northern Bank of New York Tuesday last. The indictment specifically charges Robin with the larceny of $80 000 from the Northern Bank. Robin, after having been denied admission to a private sanitarium to which he was committed as a paranoiac, returned to this city yesterday and, according to his counsel William Travers Jerome, and be produced whenever the district attorney wishes him.

The indictment was handed down to Judge Crain of the court of general sessions. As soon as it became known that the indictment had been filed, former District Attorney Jerome, who is Robin's counsel, announced that he had already informed District Attorney Whitman as to the whereabouts of the indicted man. Mr. Jerome said that there was some doubt as to the mental and physical condition of Mr. Robin and asked that two detectives be sent to the man's home and formally place him under arrest. Then he asked that Robin be not brought to court today, saying that he wished this step deferred until tomorrow, so as to allow physicians to examine the man and determine his condition. Mr. Whitman offered no objections to these suggestions. Judge Crain fixed bail temporarily at $25,000, and Robin will be arraigned tomorrow, if his condition is deemed satisfactory.

Superintendent Cheney made the following announcement: "The banking department has, for the present, assumed charge of the Washington Savings Bank pending a further examination into its condition. This step has seemed necessary, by reason of that bank's relation to the Northern Bank."

It is expected that the depositors of the Northern Bank will be paid in full, but no definite statement as to the bank's condition is expected for a fortnight, at least, pending completion of an examination of the bank's accounts.

Negotiations were in progress today looking towards the purchase by a syndicate of New York city men, of the Aetna Indemnity Company of Hartford, Conn., which was involved in the closing of the Northern Bank. The option on the controlling stock will expire late this afternoon. Theodore H. MacDonald, state superintendent of insurance of Connecticut came here today in connection with the proposed purchase.

FINAL WORK AT PANAMA.

Emergency Dams to be Installed at Head of Canal Locks for Protective Purposes.

As indicating the progress which is being made in the construction of the Panama canal, the canal commission has received from the isthmus requisitions for material to be used in the building of the emergency dams. The installation of these will constitute the final large work to be performed in connection with the canal locks. The emergency dams will be erected at the head of each of the sets of locks of the canal and will be used in case of an accident which would permit the water of Gatun lake to flow into the canal. Even in the event of accident they will be utilized only after two other precautions which have been taken in the plans have failed. The first protective measure lies in the fact that there will be two sets of gates to the locks, and these would have to be injured before any danger would be imminent. Secondly, there will be a heavy chain stretched across the lock above the gates, which would stop any vessel in an emergency before it could injure the gates. If by some unforeseen possibility these two protective measures should fail, the emergency dam will prevent the emptying of Gatun lake through the locks. The canal commission shortly will advertise for bids for the structural steel of which the emergency dams will be built. It is believed that the first of these dams will be installed June 1, 1911, and the last January 1, 1912.

Members of the International Boilermakers' Union will be permitted by that body to go to the isthmus of Panama for work on the canal, notwithstanding the action of about 100 boilermakers in resigning their positions with the government on the isthmus. This further evidence that the course of the men in quitting the service previous to President Taft's decision on their demands was not countenanced, has been received in a telegram from president J. A. Franklin of the International Boilermakers' Union. He has notified the business agents of the union to permit members to go to the isthmus for government work. The resignation of the 100 boilermakers is not regarded by the isthmian canal commission as in any sense a strike as the men gave the usual five days' notice, and the commission is gratified that the matter will not develop into a labor problem, as it is desired from a patriotic standpoint to employ American citizens as far as possible in the construction of the canal. The action of the union, it is said, will obviate any necessity of seeking boilermakers outside the United States, a power which the canal commission possesses.

The supply of skilled and unskilled labor on the Panama canal at present is in excess of the demand except in the case of boilermakers. This situation has caused the canal commission to issue a warning that under the present conditions there is little likelihood that any man who goes to the isthmus at his own expense and under his own initiative will find employment there. The commission advises persons seeking work in the canal zone to make application to Captain F. C. Boggs, general purchasing officer of the commission in Washington, who will have charge of filling the occasional vacancies as they occur.

The State Department has won a long-standing contention with the government of Panama, in securing a recognition of the right of Americans to own lands in that country. The latest report from the isthmus is to the effect that the president of Panama has signed the new law which repeals the clause of the existing act excluding Americans from the privilege of holding land in the republic.

FIFTEEN KILLED AND MANY INJURED

Boiler at Ice Plant Near Pittsfield Explodes.

City Council, at Special Meeting, to Deal With Situation.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Dec. 29.—The boiler at the plant of the Morewood Lake Ice Company at Morewood lake exploded today, killing 15 men and injuring upwards of 20. The men were delayed in going to work, and were sitting around the boiler warming themselves when the explosion occurred. Four unidentified dead were either Italians or Polanders, who had reported for work today when the firm planned to begin cutting the first ice crop of the season. It is estimated that 20 men were severely injured. Thirteen of the injured were taken to the House of Mercy, where two were unconscious at noon.

The property damage will probably not exceed 500, as only the boiler house, a wooden structure 30 by 45 feet, was wrecked. Owing to the rain of the past few days the work of beginning the harvesting of the ice crop was delayed until this forenoon. In response to advertisements printed in the local papers a large force of men applied for work at the lake today, most of whom were unknown to the firm, although all of the company's regular employes were on the scene. Work was not begun immediately, as tools had to be prepared and the men given instructions as to their duties. While waiting for the summons to begin active operations on the ice, most of the men were either inside the boiler house warming themselves, or grouped in the vicinity of the building. Suddenly, at about 9:30 A. M., there was a terrific explosion, which was heard for miles. No one who was at the lake is able to give a clear account of what happened, for the few who were not injured or killed were dazed by the shock.

The boiler house was demolished in a fragment of a second, and pieces of the boiler, timbers, and human bodies were sent hurling through the air. One body was blown a distance of 200 feet and another 150 feet. The cylinder of the boiler was found in a tree on the edge of the lake, more than 100 feet away, while a large piece of iron was picked up 200 yards from the spot where the boiler house had stood.

The ice house is about two miles outside of Pittsfield, and the nearest telephone line was more than half a mile away. Consequently, it was some time before word of the disaster reached this city. Doctors were rushed to the scene at once and all of the ambulances were dispatched to the lake. The ambulance service, however, was totally inadequate to take care of the dead and injured, and automobiles were used to aid in removing the injured to the hospital.

The Morewood Lake Ice Company is owned by Shand & Leshure, a firm which came here about a year ago from North Adams. Mr. Shand said today that the boiler was inspected during the summer by Inspector Forbush of the state police, who ordered certain changes made. This was done, according to Mr. Shand, and yesterday a test of the water gauge showed that instrument to be in perfect condition. Mr. Shand said William Dunn, one of the men who was killed, was in charge of the boiler today. He was an experienced engineer, although during the seasons when ice was not being harvested he was employed in other capacities by the ice company. The boiler raw u sdse dMR hihukiluiSnE3T boiler was used in furnishing the power to drag the cakes of ice up the inclines into the ice storage houses. Mayor William H. MacInnis at noon called a special meeting of the city council for 3 o'clock, to deal with the situation. The city almoner was instructed to care for the families of the victims, if assistance is required. Many of those killed or injured were poor men and some were heads of large families. Mayor MacInnis recommended that the public contribute to a fund which will be used to aid those who may be in want.

Fireman Ward was missing this afternoon and it is feared his remains are among those not identified. Ward's coat was found near the boiler house. The bodies of many of the dead were terribly blackened and multilated by the explosion. The searching party which went from Pittsfield devoted several hours to the grim work of collecting the several parts of bodies, and in several cases limbs were missing. So badly multilated and disfigured are several of the remains that identification seemed almost impossible.

Large crowds of people went to the lake this afternoon to view the scene of havic. Many of the relatives and friends of the men employed at the ice plant were in the number, and it it was a sad party which stood before the destroyed boiler house. The state officials have begun an investigation of the explosion. The work of inspecting boilers is in charge of the Massachusetts district police.

A. H. McNeill of the Massachusetts district police will begin an investigation of the accident at once. The members of the firm, Shand & Leshuer, said that Dunn, Allen and Ward were the only ice company employes who were killed. The other men, numbering about 125, had come to the lake prepared to go to work for the ice harvesting season, which was to open today. These men were notified that they were not to begin work until 1 o'clock this afternoon, but few if any returned to the city, preferring to remain at the lake until the work began.

BANCROFT TO STORM JAPAN.

Manager of Cincinnati Nationals to Add Another Country to List.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 29.—Business Manager Frank Bancroft of the Cincinnati Nationals, who has taken base ball clubs to foreign countries, expects to add another country to his list after the next world's series. Japan is the country Bancroft expects to storm and his army of invasion will consist, he says, of the Philadelphia Americans.

"The members of the Philadelphia team are anxious to make the trip to Japan next year," said Bancroft. "They have heard what crowds the American college teams have been drawing in that country, and are certain that they will prove a greater drawing card. The team will start for the Far East immediately after the last game has been played and the men will keep in shape by light practice on board ship."

A LITTLE MORE RAIN.

Not Much, But the Ponds are Holding Their Own and Even Gaining.

It rained again Wednesday night—not much in quantity, but considerable in time. It started about 6 o'clock and when it stopped probably the late watch of the police know. The rain gauge at the Water Works pumping station reported only .08 of an inch, and that is very little. Still, the ponds are more than holding their own. They are gradually, though slowly, creeping up toward high-water mark, which at the present writing is still like a mountain, or the latest aviation mark, above them.

The soft weather and the presence of enough water has encouraged the highway men to begin work on cleaning catch basins, and it really looks queer to see them dumping a load of water to flush and seal a catch basin after it is cleaned. Such extravagance of water could not have been allowed a few days ago.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 61¾, Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe 100⅝, Brooklyn Rapid Transit 75⅜, Canadian Pacific 195, Chesapeake & Ohio 79¾, Chicago Milwaukee & St Paul 122, Colorado Fuel and Iron 31, Erie 27⅝, Interborough Metropolitan preferred 53¾, New York Central 110⅝, Northern Pacific 115⅝, Pennsylvania 128½, Reading 149⅜, Rock Island 29, Southern Pacific 114⅞, Southern Railway 26, Union Pacific 169½, United States Steel 71, United States Steel preferred 116½, Lehigh Valley 180¾.

10—The feature at the opening of the stock market was the strength of Canadian Pacific and Southern Railway preferred, which gained 1¾ and 1¼ respectively, in the active list gains of substantial fractions to a point were the rule. Some heaviness was shown in Steel at the opening but that stock soon recovered its loss. The only severe decline in the early trading was in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste Marie, which fell 1⅝.

11—Speculative sentiment became more cheerful when the market failed to make its usual downward dip, following the opening, and there was a well distributed demand for stocks which was reflected in substantially higher prices all around. The southern group of stocks were especially strong. Among the notable advances were General Electric 2 points, Atlantic Coast Line 1½, Louisville & Nashville 1⅜, Missouri Pacific 1¼, and Union Pacific, Reading, New York Central, Lehigh Valley, and United States Steel 1.

Noon—The broad and comprehensive advance in stocks was well maintained throughout the morning session on a smaller volume of business, the movement being materially assisted by extensive short covering. The rise in Canadian Pacific resulted from reports that an increase in the dividend is soon to be made, and the strength of the southern railway group was concurrent with reports of an early resumption of dividends on Southern Railway preferred. The coalers, Hurricans and other issues in the same class were well taken at rising prices, the advance in Reading anticipating the issuance of the November report, which will be published later in the day. Some of the industrials notably United States Rubber, and General Electric were up about 3 points. Announcement of another "harmony conference" to be held by the steel interest, in the near future, was helpful to United States Steel. Bonds were irregular. Money on call, easier at 3¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4½ per cent. Exchanges $336,456,947; balances $13,527,519.

SPECIAL MEETING of Local 534 Painters Thursday evening, Dec. 29, at 7:30 P. M. Election of officers.

TO OVERHAUL THE LOBSTER LAW

Inland Fish Commission Will Recommend Revision at Next Session of the Legislature.

The present lobster law, as well as other laws relating to inland fisheries, will be thoroughly overhauled and revised during the next session of the General Assembly if the recommendations of the inland fish commission are adopted. Steps to that end were taken at a special meeting held at the State House by the commission, with a full attendance. Those present included Charles W. Willard, president; William H. Boardman, Adelbert D. Roberts, Isaac H. Clarke, Daniel B. Fearing and William P. Morton, secretary.

When asked what particular parts or sections of the present "famous lobster law" were objectionable to the commission, or what radical changes were to be made, President Willard declined to say. He said that he did not care to bring up old matters, and as long as the incident was closed he did not care to start it anew. Mr. Willard said changes in the present laws would be recommended in many ways, with the idea of bringing the laws of this state up to the standard of Massachusetts and other states. In making this revision he said the opinions of scientists, the fishermen and the general public would be considered and would govern the commission in the framing of the proposed laws. It is the aim of the board, he said, to protect the lobsters in every way possible and at the same time protect the "good fishermen."

The board did not decide upon any special outline but they will hold a series of meetings during the next three weeks in order to complete their work. No action has been taken as to the appropriations for the coming year.

OUTSIDE THE POLICE STATION.

Morgue Should Be a One-Story Addition. But Not Under the Same Roof.

To the Editor of the Daily News:

In your editorial in today's issue in regard to a city morgue, you suggest that the Council provide for a morgue within the walls of the new police station. I suggest that it provide for one without the walls of the station. That is, for what might be called a one-story addition to the station, with the wall of the station forming one of the walls of the morgue, yet with a separate roof over the dead house, so that the police should not feel they were sleeping under the same roof.

There were apparently very good reasons why the morgue once in the police station was done away with. But with a new station under consideration, with opportunity to get enough room for such a place, and with the apparent necessity for such a place, open to and under the care of the police all the time, there seems no good reason why the city should not do its part and make provision for the proper care, temporarily, of such bodies as come into the charge of the police. I understand that since the first of November there have been five such bodies, three besides the ones whose death in the middle of the night has brought this need to the attention of the public.

A REMARKABLE MOTION PICTURE

If one should be so fortunate as to be a passenger bound for Vancouver, and should look out of the car window of the train six miles this side of Field, he would see perched upon the edge of a cliff 1,500 feet above, the clear outline of a silver mine hung upon the rocks of this sheer cliff and seeming to be perched upon the very edge of possibilities. A dangerous-looking place and an impossible-looking location for either man or beast, yet there a motion picture was taken by the Edison company, entitled "The Stolen Claim," which is to be shown at the Bijou Theatre. This picture is a remarkable piece of work and abounds in beautiful scenic backgrounds, telling a dramatic story of life in a mining camp. The other pictures are "The Preacher's Wife," "The Dull Razor" and "No Place Like Home."

MIDDLETOWN.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

The Paradise Club was entertained at "Brookfield Farm" Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Edward A. Brown. Mrs. George E. Ward, who was to have presented the subject, "The Overthrow of New France," being in Boston, the president, Mrs. William C. Hubbell, assisted in various readings on the subject. Light refreshments were served.

Miss Ada Littlefield was happily surprised at her home, "Hillside Farm," Green End avenue, Wednesday evening by a party of 30 young people, who came in to celebrate her birthday. The affair was arranged by Miss Lusanna Allen, Miss Marguerite Ritchie and Miss May L. Hart, and no inkling reached Miss Littlefield until the party all arrived. The evening was spent socially with games, and ice cream, cake and sandwiches were served. The house looked attractive with Christmas decorations of holly, and there were vases of carnations. The hostess was the recipient of a number of presents. Among the guests were Miss Littlefield's sister, Mrs. William DeBlois, and Mr. DeBlois of Newport, and Mr. "Jack" Taylor, who is at home from Eastman College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

The recent mild weather has caused the marsh quail to be more frequently heard and seen. The low, soft whistling seems more like a forerunner of spring than of winter.

As Rev. F. W. Goodman is in New York, the Christmas tree festival of St Mary's and Holy Cross churches will not be held until next week.

"Possums" seem to be breeding on the island. Two months ago one was caught at "Glen Farm" and this week one was found by Mr. John Smith in a trap on the east shore.

ROGERS BEATS THE ALUMNI.

Lighter School Team Wins Out Despite Pretty Rough Usage.

Father Mathew Defeats the Algonkins in Fast City League Contest.

Wednesday a large crowd witnessed a battle royal between the Rogers High School and the Alumni basket ball teams, which resulted in a victory for Rogers to the tune of 25 to 20. The game at times had slight resemblance to basket ball; it seemed more like Ruby. To say it was rough would be to put it mildly. The Alumni had a decided advantage over their opponents in weight, and used it at times with good effect, the lighter players on the school team being knocked down and thrown about almost at will. There was little chance for team work, as the players covered each other closely, and opportunities for shooting occurred only at rare intervals. The high school boys put up a fine exhibition against their heavy opponents, and finally proved that it is not always main strength which conquers. The refereeing was acceptable, though many thought Walker called too many fouls on the Alumni.

Arnold started the shooting after about five minutes of play, but Rose quickly tied, and McLyman made a free try count. This gave his team the lead, which it kept the rest of the half. In this period seven fouls were called on the Alumni to three against Rogers, and four of the seven were on Rose, who was roughing it. Arnold made only one count, but did his part by adding two more baskets for his side. At the end of the half Rogers weakened under the fast pace the Alumni had set, and the Alumni doubled their score. The period ended 14-7 in favor of the Alumni.

Rogers came back strong in the last half and fairly out-classed their opponents in team work. The Alumni kept the lead until about the middle of the period, when Rogers forced. The older boys began roughing it, and as a result six more fouls were called on them, three of which Arnold made count. In this period the excitement was intense, for through the greater part of the half the Alumni led by only three points. Finally a free try put Rogers one point ahead and to this lead they added, the game ending with them six points to the good.

Arnold was the star of the game. Out of the 20 points scored, the little fellow had 13 to his credit. He played all around the big fellows against him, and was the favorite of the bout. The rest of the team played well, but had hard luck in their shooting. Anthony and Freeman played a strong game on the back field. For the Alumni, Fludder and McLyman deserve credit for the clean game they played. Rose was the star scorer for the Alumni. The summary:

Rogers	R. H. S. Alumni.
Knox, r. f.,	l. b., Fludder
Arnold, l. f.,	r. b., Rooney
Underwood, c.,	c., McLyman
Anthony, r. b.,	l. f., Rose
Freeman, l. b.,	r. f., Murphy

Score—Rogers 26, Alumni 20. Goals from floor—Arnold 7, Rose 4, Underwood 2 Murphy 2, Knox, Anthony; McLyman, Fludder, Rooney. Goals from fouls—Arnold 4, McLyman 2. Referee—Walker. Timers—Dolliver and Lee.

The Father Mathew and Algonkin teams in the City League played an interesting game in the former's hall, before as large an audience as could be accommodated. Father Mathew won, 37 to 20, after a fast game. It is evident, however, that the referees have not yet brought the players down quite to the rules, and the game was at times unnecessarily rough. Fouls were numerous, and although neither team made all the tries for goals from fouls, Father Mathew scored five points and the Algonkins seven from fouls, while there were four unsuccessful tries.

The Father Mathew team excelled in passing and shooting, while the Algonkins missed several tries for baskets. Their back work was also a little off. Thompson played the best game for the Algonkins, holding his opponent to two baskets. Maher, Kyle and Gardner also played a good game. Martin and Fitzsimmons starred for Father Mathew, each making 11 points.

The first half ended with the score 19 to 10, in favor of Father Mathew. In the second there were a number of sensational plays, and both teams put up a fast game, goals being made in rapid succession. In this half the Father Mathews added 18 points to their score, while the Algonkins made 11. The line-up was as follows:

Father Mathew.	Algonkin.
Byrnes, r. f.,	l. b., Thompson
Martin, l. f.,	r. b., Kyle
Fitzsimmons, c.,	c., Maher
Dwyer, r. b.,	l. f., Hickey
Sullivan, l. b.,	r. f., Underwood Gardner.

Score—Father Mathew 37; Algonkin 20. Goals from floor—Byrnes 2, Martin 5, Fitzsimmons 4, Dwyer, Sullivan 4; Thompson 3, Maher 2, Hickey, Gardner 2. Goals from fouls—Martin, Fitzsimmons 3, Dwyer; Kyle 3, Thompson 2, Maher, Hickey, Gardner. Referees and umpires—McMahon and Sullivan. Timekeeper—Langley. Time—Two 20-minute halves.

The standing of the teams in the league is as follows:

	Won	Lost	Per-centage
St. Joseph's	3	0	1.000
Father Mathew	3	1	.750
Tigers	2	1	.667
Algonkins	2	2	.500
Y. M. C. A.	0	2	.000
Goldsads	0	3	.000

FUNERAL OF MRS. WASHBURN.

The funeral of Mrs. Arthur H. Washburn, who died suddenly at her home on Prospect Hill street Tuesday, took place this noon, the burial being private. She expired while giving directions in regard to household duties. She leaves two sons, one, Mr. Charles Washburn, residing in Boston, and two married daughters, Mrs. Clarke, wife of ex-Mayor William P. Clarke, and Mrs. Theodore O. Carr.

DEATH OF JOHN W. ELLIS.

Prominent as Financier and Railroad Man, and Long a Resident of Newport.

Mr. John W. Ellis, a former summer resident, for many years owner of the estate known as "Stonecare" on Bellevue avenue, and still a legal citizen of Newport, died Wednesday at his home in New York, after an illness of several years duration. He was in his eighty fourth year.

Mr. Ellis was born in 1817 in Williamsburg, Ohio, and was educated at Kenyon College. In 1845 he married Miss Caroline Satterlee Lindley, who died in 1892. Starting on a business career in Cincinnati at the age of 18 he rapidly proved his worth. He became president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad and was interested in several other railroad properties, he was instrumental in organizing the national bank system during the war and became president of the first national bank founded. At this time he was continuously in consultation with President Lincoln, Secretary Chase and Jay Cooke. It is said that when General Grant was elected President Mr. Ellis was asked to head the Treasury Department. He went to New York in 1870 on the invitation of Winslow, Lanier & Co., bankers, to take part in the management of their business. He retired from business about 10 years later.

Mr. Ellis became a summer resident of Newport in 1853, when he purchased land on the corner of Bellevue and Victoria avenues and erected a handsome cottage, known as "Stonecare." This he occupied regularly for 20 years, selling the estate in the autumn of 1903 to Edward R. Thomas. Since then Mr. Ellis had frequently spent the summer in Newport, occupying various houses, having been here last in 1909, when he had the Bristed, now the Wentz, cottage, "Felsock," on Wyckham road. He still retained his interest in Newport and remained a citizen here to the last. He is survived by a son, Mr. Ralph N. Ellis, and three daughters, Mrs. W. N. Postlewaite, Mrs. Charles Gourverneur Weir and Mrs. Mary Hoffman.

Mr. Ellis was a member of the Ohio and New England societies, the Down Town and Union League clubs and the American Geographical Society, a director in the Metropolitan Art Museum. He was also a stockholder of the Newport Casino. He was a contributor to many private charity organizations.

NEW STATE LAWS ASKED FOR.

Legislation to Provide for Inspection of Seeds and Nursery Stock and Control of Dogs.

A new law providing for the inspection of seeds, more stringent laws relating to dogs and inspection of nursery stock and an appropriation of $2,000 for the suppression of the San Jose scale, will be recommended to the incoming General Assembly by the State Board of Agriculture. Action toward securing this legislation was taken at the semi-annual meeting of the board, at the last regular meeting prior to the opening of the legislature, every member being present.

It was voted that a request be made in the report for the enactment of a law creating an inspector of seeds, whose duty it shall be to inspect all seeds sold in bulk and in packages of four pounds or more. It has come to the attention of the board that many seeds offered on the market contain many impurities in the way of weed seed, and that oftentimes farmers sowing down a field of oats get poor seed and sow many weeds, not only injuring the field but decreasing the value of the crop. More stringent laws relating to dogs are also requested by the farmers in general throughout the state for the protection of sheep and live stock. The change which will be recommended will give the person finding a dog on his property, providing it is known to be of a vicious character, the privilege of killing it without liability.

The present laws relating to the inspection of nursery stock are of little practical value, according to the secretary of the board, John J. Dunn, in that they provide no penalty for the violation of its provisions. The proposed change in this respect will make imperative a thorough examination of all stock shipped into this state, as well as nurseries and orchards in the state. It is the desire of the board in cases where a man is keeping his trees in good condition and doing everything possible to suppress the San Jose scale and other troubles, while the person on adjoining property makes no effort in that direction, that the state inspector shall step in and see that ample precautions are taken to prevent the propagation of any insects which may injure the trees.

TO LECTURE ON THE BROWN-TAIL MOTH.

In view of the fact that the danger of the brown-tail moth has become more immediate to Newport and vicinity, by the discovery of the insects in Middletown and Portsmouth, the Newport Horticultural Society has invited Professor Steen of the Rhode Island Agricultural College, an expert on the subject, to give a talk on the pests and the methods of exterminating them, before the society. It is hoped to have Professor Steen here for the next meeting of the society, Tuesday, January 10, and the meeting will be open to the public, that there may be a wider knowledge of the subject among the citizens of Newport.

THE HATCHET CLUB'S LADIES' NIGHT.

The Hatchet Club has decided that the ladies' night on the occasion of its annual dinner last year was so successful that it will continue this form of entertainment. It will still further branch out, having its celebration at The Aquidneck, where there is more room for the entertainment of the friends of the members in the form of cards, social pleasures and dancing, as well as for the dinner. The entertainment will be held Thursday evening, January 5, and not Wednesday evening, as has been reported.

DEATH OF DR. PRESLEY C. HUNT.

Dr. Presley Craig Hunt, who died recently at the John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, was a son of the late Major General Henry J. Hunt, U. S. A., who was at one time in command of Fort Adams. Dr. Hunt was a native of Washington, 38 years old, and was the neurologist at the Providence Hospital, alienist for the corporation counsel of the District of Columbia and an active member of the American Medical Association. His mother, three sisters and two brothers survive him, the brothers being C. B. Hunt, engineer of highways in the District of Columbia, and Captain John F. Hunt, United States engineer corps.

PORTSMOUTH.

Town Council in Special Session Grants One More Liquor License.

Three Christmas Entertainments, Given in Stormy Weather, Repeated With Success.

[Regular correspondence of the News.]

A special meeting of the town council and court of probate was held Wednesday evening at the town hall with the following members present: Warren R. Sherman, Robert H. Manchester, Henry F. Anthony, Minot A. Steele and Thomas J. Sweet.

The inventory of the estate of Albert C. Brownell was allowed and ordered recorded.

The petition of Henry L. Church, administrator on the estate of Albert C. Brownell, for permission to sell at private sale all the articles named in the inventory, was granted, the prices to be not less than the appraisal thereof.

The petitions of Charles Zalkind, Louis Belovitz and Nathan Swift, for junk licenses, were granted; fee, $5 each.

The council heard the remonstrants against liquor licenses and disposed of them as follows: The petition of Joseph F. Sullivan was granted, and those of Edward F. Barrett, Richard Duckworth and Ray Duckworth were rejected.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dugan were granted a license to hold a masquerade ball at Oakland hall January 17, 1911.

A bill of Sheffield, Levy & Harvey for professional services during the year 1910, $104.20, was received.

It was voted that the president of the council, Warren R. Sherman, be instructed to obtain advice from Judge Robert M. Franklin in relation to William L. Tallman.

Three of the Christmas celebrations in town were held on the stormy Saturday afternoon and evening, and so many were deprived of being present that it was decided to repeat them. The Friends' Church was decorated with a profusion of holly and red bells, the mantels lighted with candles and several candelabra on the balcony. The wall back of the platform was made a solid curtain of green and the large tree was well filled with presents, which were distributed the first time. The program was as follows:

Song by school, "The Merry Christmas Time;" Scripture reading, prayer; recitation, "Welcome," Kathryn Boyd; song by school, "Christmas Morning;" recitation, "What did the Christmas Angels Say?" Henry Chace; Everett Hedly and Theodore Poor; duet, "Peace, Sweet Peace," Marguerite Holman and Amy Sherman; recitations, "A Gift to the Christmas Child," Grace Dixon; "A Bell," Jennie Griffin; "Babies in Their Cradles," Flora Chace; "My Christmas Gifts," Willie Turner, and "O, Little Stars," Annie Griffin; song by school, "Songs of Hallelujah;" recitation, "At Christmas Time," Gladys Turner; duet, "Bethlehem, Welcome thy Royal Guest," Jessie and Grace Dixon; exercise by nine children, "The Conquering Power;" recitation, "Two Mites," Gladys Poor; solo, "To us a Son is given," M. Finis Macomber; recitation, "While Shepherds Watch," Alice Ayler; song by school, "The Conquering Hero Comes;" recitation, "Ring for Christmas," Raymond Turner; solo, "O, Shepherd Haste," Edna Malone; recitation, "Whose birthday?" Flora Chace; song, "Shine On;" recitation, "The Christmas Stars," Alice Marz; solo, "Star of the East," Alice Ayler; recitation, "The Visit of the Shepherds," Grace Turner; closing song, "Glory to God." After the offering was taken a carol was sung, which gave the congregation so much pleasure that it was repeated.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday School gave the same program the second evening, as on the first, with the exception of the tree. The church was prettily trimmed and a good congregation present to enjoy the following exercises: Opening chorus, "Plains of Judea"; responsive reading, prayer and anthem; greeting, Alice Marshall; exercise, "The Christmas Winks," by four girls; recitations, "Great Expectations," Wallace Dennis; "Do They hang them up," Minnie Davol, and "Snow flakes are falling," Elva Hedly; exercise, "Star and Cross," two boys; song, "O shining portals," by eight girls; song, "The Angels' Story"; recitations, Howard Borden, Elsie Spooner, and Richmond Dennis; exercise, "Keeping Christmas," by three girls; chorus, "His Wondrous Birth"; song, "On this Holy Christmas Day," by 12 girls; recitation, "Christmas to All," Willie Smith; chorus, "Bells of Heaven," recitations "The Coming of the Snowflakes," Ruth Hedly; "O, Little Star," Esther Coggeshall, and "Gifts for the King," Marjorie Borden; exercise, "Beautiful Star," by six girls; chorus, "Joy and Peace;" recitation, "Jesus's Birthday," Minnie Dennis; chorus, "March of the Ages;" recitation, "Christmas Thoughts," Viola Borden; recitation, Mattie Ashley; exercise, "Christmas Gifts," eight girls; chorus, "Who is this?"; address by the pastor; chorus, "Glory in the Highest."

The tree given at the Social Studio was attended the first time by about 60 children, largely Portuguese. Each was given a box of candy and a book from the prettily decorated tree and all had a delightful afternoon. The pretty little Studio had been made a green bower and had lost none of its brightness and beauty when the second set of children, numbering between 60 and 70, gathered for a similar good time, and were not disappointed. Rev. James H. Dennis was present both afternoons and gave an interesting talk on each occasion.

At the Webb-Anthony wedding Mr. and Mrs. Webb were assisted in receiving by Senator and Mrs. Anthony, Mrs. Frederick C. Cooke, the matron of honor; Mr. George R. Cherry, the best man, and Mr. William Webb, uncle of the groom. The wedding breakfast was served on three tables, seating 44, placed after the reception in the dining and reception rooms and library. The following menu was served: Consomme Julienne and bread sticks; celery hearts and olives; oyster patties, a la Newburg, lobster cutlets and French

MRS. HOWE'S PORTRAIT.

Boston Municipal Art Commission Will Not Allow Painting to be Placed in Faneuil Hall.

Friends of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe and those who knew her only by reputation expressed considerable indignation when it became known that the Municipal Art Commission of Boston has refused to allow the portrait of the noted woman to be placed in Faneuil Hall. Shortly after the death of the author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" a memorial committee was formed, and this committee made all preparations to have a portrait of Mrs. Howe painted by her son-in-law, John C. Elliott, and have it placed in Faneuil Hall. Secretary J. Templeman Coolidge, Jr., of the Municipal Art Commission said the commission has decided to refuse to sanction the placing of Mrs. Howe's portrait in Boston's "Hall of Fame." He said the commission has decided that a more appropriate memorial to Mrs. Howe would be a bust, and a more appropriate place for the bust would be the Boston Public Library.

CONCLUDE FESTIVITIES.

Public Receptions Given by Commanding Officers on Flagships at Brest and Cherbourg.

As a fitting conclusion to the round of festivities in connection with the visit of the First division of the United States Atlantic fleet to Chorbourg, France, and of the Third division to Brest, the commander-in-chief, Rear Admiral Seaton Schroeder, and Rear Admiral Joseph Murdock, Wednesday gave farewell receptions on board their flagships, the Connecticut and the Minnesota, respectively. All the civil and military authorities and more than 1,000 other guests attended the functions, and when the time came for their departure they raised cheer after cheer for the Americans who have made themselves very popular.

Rear Admiral Thomas B. Howard, commander of the Fourth division of the fleet, and the other officers of the warships, were entertained Wednesday at Gravesend, England, at the residence of the mayor, on the occasion of their farewell visit.

OYSTER BEDS POLLUTED.

Shellfish Commission Finds That Dumpings of Government Dredgers Are Injurious.

The state Shellfish Commission and Lieutenant Colonel James C. Sanford, corps of engineers, are in consultation regarding certain matters of interest to the oyster industry. In some quarters it has been claimed that the dredgers employed by the government in improving the approach to Fall River harbor, who dump on the east side of Prudence island, near the naval coaling station, are polluting oyster beds. Mr. Brayton Round of the Shellfish Commission has gone over the matter, examining charts of oyster beds which it is claimed are injured, and the entire matter will be thoroughly investigated by the government, working with the state authorities. It is understood that Mr. Round, for the commission, has asked that some other place be used for dumping purposes.
